People Policy Handbook

1 Purpose and Scope

This handbook describes the employment policies that apply to every full-time employee of the company across all offices in India. It is reviewed once a year by the leadership team and the human resources business partners, and the version in force is always the one published on the intranet.

Where a local law is more generous than this handbook, the local law is followed. Nothing in this document creates a contract of employment, and it should be read together with the appointment letter and the employment agreement signed at the time of joining.

2 Employment Types

A probationer is confirmed after six months of satisfactory service, subject to a rating of meets expectations or better in the probation review.

Contractual staff are engaged for a fixed term of twelve months and may be extended twice before they are considered for a permanent role.

Interns work for a minimum of eight weeks and are not eligible for leave encashment.

3 Leave Policy

3.1 Casual Leave: twelve days are granted at the start of each calendar year and cannot be accumulated beyond the year in which they are granted.

3.2 Sick Leave: ten days per year, available from the first month of service. Sick leave of more than three consecutive days requires a medical certificate from a registered practitioner.

3.3 Earned Leave: fifteen days per year, accrued at the rate of one and one fourth days per completed month. Earned leave may be accumulated up to sixty days and encashed at basic salary.

3.4 Maternity leave follows the Maternity Benefit Act of 2017 and is twenty-six weeks for a first child. Paternity leave is fifteen calendar days.

Leave must be applied for in the portal at least three working days in advance, except in an emergency, and the reporting manager approves it within two working days.

4 Notice Period

An employee below grade 5 serves thirty days of notice, and an employee at grade 5 or above serves sixty days. Either side may buy out the balance at basic salary, and notice pay is waived when the resignation is accepted on the last working day itself.

5 Reimbursement and Benefits

Travel claims are capped at 4000 rupees per month for local conveyance and require a bill in the employee's own name. Fuel for a personal vehicle used on company business is reimbursed at the rate fixed by the finance team each quarter.

Health insurance is a family floater of 500000 rupees covering the employee, spouse, and two dependent children, with a pre-authorisation desk operational on working days from nine in the morning to six in the evening.

6 Code of Conduct

Employees must not accept gifts above 1000 rupees from a vendor without written approval from the compliance officer. Confidential customer data may not be copied to a personal device under any circumstance.

7 Grievance Redressal

A grievance is raised in writing to the human resources business partner, who acknowledges it within five working days and closes it within thirty. An employee who is not satisfied may escalate the matter to the Chief Compliance Officer, whose decision is final.
